

FRIDAY JANUARY 4

PRESERVE THE EQUILIBRIUM.

There is just now a good deal of speculation afoot regarding the future disposition of officers within the gift of the Silver party of Nevada. Two years ago a sufficient number of Republicans and Democrats left their old parties and united as a Silver party.

It was charged at the time that the whole thing was a move of Democrats to secure office. This was strenuously denied by the ex-Democrats, and the counter charge made that the assertion was made to disrupt the Silver party. It was evident that the people believed in the sincerity of the Silver party, for its course was twice endorsed at the polls by decisive majorities.

It is now claimed by ex-Republicans that so far the ex-Democrats have secured the best of the deal, and many ex-Republicans threaten to leave the Silver party if the equilibrium between ex-Republicans and ex-Democrats is not reasonably well preserved.

The APPEAL believes that so far the preponderance of ex-Democrats in office is more a case of accident than design, but the question presenting itself is a very grave one. If there showed after the Legislative officers are chosen, a marked preponderance of the ex-members of one party over another, it would give discontented members of the party a chance to create further discontent. The APPEAL considers that every genuine Silver man has wholly obliterated party lines, and that the political past is put behind him forever, but this is not always taken into consideration by men of sharp memories and a man who once belonged to one party who wants something and don't get it, and sees ex-members of another party all getting something, he is apt to rise in rebellion and bring more men in line thinking as he does.

The life of the Silver party in Nevada depends upon a careful and intelligent adjustment of these matters so that there can be no discord in the ranks and no chance for fault finders to make trouble in the camp.

The interest we have at stake is something more vital than a mere division of party spoils. It is a question vital to the future of Nevada, and in the selection of men for the minor offices, the fact should ever be borne in mind that upon an equitable and just division of offices, much of the future success of the Silver party depends. There are two things that the rank and file of the party insist on.

First, the retirement of all Republicans and Democrats, with none but Silver men on guard. Second, a division of offices which will be as near as practicable equal between ex-Republicans and ex-Democrats.

THE STATE CONTRACTS.

There is now on file at the State Capitol building bids for furnishing supplies to the Orphans Home. The bid of the successful competitor is so low that he will lose money on the goods.

The bids are worth looking over. It would surprise a few of the Carson people to know how well the State is treated by the merchants. Syrup one cent a gallon vinegar one cent a gallon and Mocha coffee 20 cents a pound. Now no one believes that the man who furnishes articles a long way below cost loses any money on the goods. It has to be made up on something else.

By furnishing things below cost that are little used and getting a good price for something else is how the Carson merchant is compelled to do business. Last session the Legislature enacted a law compelling the State to deal with Nevada merchants and allow them a profit of ten per cent over San Francisco quotations, freight added. This law was put on the statute books to prevent the cut throat competition that has been going on here so long, but it has been constantly violated. The intentions of the law was to do away with competitive bidding and allow the various Boards to patronize Nevada merchants at such rates as to enable them to make a fair profit.

Why the people residing on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada mountains, in California, should object to becoming annexed to Nevada, we cannot understand, and we are not very positive that they do object, says the Lyon County Times. There are but two papers published in that strip of California that are opposed to the annexation, and all the people we have heard talk on the subject are in favor of the move. The interest of the people in that section of California are identical with those of Nevadaans. They are classed as Nevadaans by the other residents of the Golden State, and the great majority of them have to pass through Nevada and travel a great distance to reach the Capital of California. The question of taxes being looked into, it will be found that there will be very little difference in what they would have to pay. Taxes might be a trifle higher in Nevada, but very little, and we believe we have seen the statement made that they would not be as high. While the legislatures of both states are in session this winter it would be a good plan to talk this matter over and see what the general feeling is; and should it be favorable, to notify congress to that effect so that action could be taken.

The extra widows and children of the late Senator Fair get $50 each if they establish their claims. With forty millions in sight there will doubtless be enough to go around. The administrators might notify these people when they will be paid, also add, "come early to avoid the rush."

The shoe dealers in this city say in order to sell the girls No. 3 shoes they have to mark them No. 1.
